Rev's Reflections

It's November! Soon we will be celebrating Thanksgiving. Though this is a National holiday and not a Christian holiday, I still appreciate that it's a time in which we pause to give thanks to God and each other.

I spend every Thanksgiving in Arizona with my wife's side of the family. I often joke that the few days they spend together at Thanksgiving is so sacred that my involvement was written in our prenuptial agreement. I have been going on this trip for 17 years and it has become sacred to me as well. I enjoy the time that we spend together and I appreciate one tradition that we do without fail. Before we pray over our meal, we each give thanks for something in our lives. This isn't an uncommon tradition. If you don't already do it, I hope you try it this year and that it becomes a holy moment during the holiday. There is something encouraging about voicing in public with others those things we are thankful for.

The Psalmist declares, "I will give thanks to you, God, with all my heart; I will tell of all your wonderful deeds" Psalm 9:1.

When we are thankful to God for all that we have, our outlook on the world is facing in the right direction. As we give thanks to God for our family, friends, life, daily bread and everything else, we are acknowledging that all of these are a gift from God.

When I reflect on my family, ministry, and our congregation, I have much to be thankful for.

On Nov 3, 2017, I celebrated the 3 year anniversary of my call to Good Shepherd Lutheran Church. I am thankful that you as a congregation have welcomed me to be your pastor.

I am thankful for you, the people of Good Shepherd Lutheran Church. I appreciate the way you took the idea to have a celebration of the Reformation and turned that into a Festival for the community.

I am thankful that as a community we reach out to those who are homeless, hungry, and in need because God calls us to serve our neighbor.

I am thankful that we are globally minded and have reached beyond our borders to Resurrection Lutheran Church in El Salvador. I appreciate that we have a sister parish relationship with them that we continue to explore and define.

Lastly, I am thankful for the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ that I see evident in the lives of you parishioners.

So, as we pass through Thanksgiving, into the Advent Season and Christmas, May the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all.

Peace,
- Rev

Thank you

There will be a "Thank You" Lunch for everyone who worked on the Reformation Festival. The lunch will be held here at Good Shepherd in Fellowship Hall on Sunday, November 12 at 1:00 p.m. There is a sign up sheet today in the Narthex. Please sign up so we know how many to expect.

Second Chance Boutique

Betty Jacobsen volunteers once a week at Second Chance, a boutique that sells new and slightly used clothing and accessories for women, men and children. Proceeds from the boutique support the California Reentry Institute (CRI), which is a pre and post release program at San Quentin. If a prisoner goes thru the program as an inmate and is paroled a member of CRI meets the parolee at the prison gate and supports them outside the prison walls. This can involve helping them find jobs, medical service, transportation, giving them cell phones (to communicate with family and parole officer) and much more. Roland House supports parolees at a cost of about $6,000 per person compared to about $64,000 to incarcerate. That's a saving of $58,000 per man.

Collette (who developed the CRI program) has worked with prisoners at San Quentin for 17 years; she started CRI and the first class began in January, 2014. She has never had someone that she worked with that was granted parole who has return to prison. That's a 100% success rate. And that doesn't mean no one was paroled. In planning a reunion of parolees she'd helped, there are over 20 just in our area and more in Southern California. It's a wonderful program and that's why Betty volunteers at Second Chance. It is a privilege to volunteer and get to know Collette, the other volunteers and even some ex-cons.

CRI is a two year program at San Quentin. The first 12 months is spent on Emotions, which is followed up with understanding and learning to avoid Criminal and Addictive thinking. The program is designed to help men in prison understand the causative factors of their crime.

A Message from our Council President

Hello everyone,

First off, I would like to thank everyone who helped make the Reformation Festival such a success! As always, our congregation came together, worked hard and made the event a special one for all who attended. In particular, Pastor Jeremy and Sue Hertless put in countless hours over this past year in planning and coordinating the event.

Here are some highlights from our Church Council meeting on October 10th.

- Recognitions:
 - o Kay Bennett and Connie Batchelder for passing out Reformation Festival flyers.
 - o Laura Mott and Pastor Jeremy for their help with the blood drive.
 - o Laura Mott for all the help with the Stewardship Drive preparation.
- The blood drive on October 6th was a success! Thanks to Candace Bradley for coordinating the event. 33 people joined us at Good Shepherd to donate blood!
- We are still in need of someone to take over Kelly's position as the Chair of Fellowship. My thanks to Carin Olson for volunteering to coordinate the GSLC Thanksgiving Dinner!
- Pastor Jeremy has been working with several other local churches to establish an ecumenical youth group. You will be hearing more on this in the upcoming months.
- Lastly, a reminder that full minutes of our Council meetings are posted on the Good Shepherd web site.

In God's Peace,
Greg Buchholz
Council President

Serving God by Volunteering in the Community.

Evangelism is defined as “the winning or reawakening of personal commitments to Jesus.”

It’s using our hands for God’s work as we live out our Christian faith. The Evangelism Committee would like to develop a list of persons from Good Shepherd who volunteer at non-profit service organizations in our community. The list will be used to let others know about volunteer opportunities and a contact person from our church to ask questions. It will also be used to write articles for our church newsletter. Read Betty Jacobsen’s volunteer story beginning on Page 2 of this newsletter.

They need to understand what lead them down the path to criminal behavior. CRI believes that there is truth in the saying “Hurt people, Hurt people” and that if people can understand their hurts and learn to care, especially about themselves, then they will care about other people and their property. From there the CRI program goes on to Life Skills, this includes Relationships, Occupation, Education, Technology and Freedom then what?

CRI believes that prisoners thru hard work, introspection and applying the tools that CRI provides can indeed change before our very eyes. As proof, following is feedback from two of the men who recently finished the first year of the program on Emotions.

“I came to CRI a man lost, ;having no understanding of feelings, emotions, not knowing the meaning of empathy. Not caring about anyone or anything. I now realize how lost I was because a man that has given up on life has nothing to offer. I have gone through this program, I am now full of life. The 40 year I have been incarcerated is not a waste. I want nothing more than to have the opportunity to give back what has been given me.” Arthur - Class of 2018 and graduate of the Class of 2016 (requested to repeat).

I like it (CRI program) more than I can say. I had no idea how lost I was and how much work that I needed. I also had very little hope of ever getting out of prison, until I got here to SQ and entered CRI. All I ever knew was that I don't like prison and I don't want to come back. Now I know that I WILL NOT come back. The fact that there are people that come in here to teach us and help us through life is unbelievable. I didn't think that anyone cared what we went through. I have so much hope and faith now that I can't wait to share with others. Thank you for all of your help to and for all of us. Thanks to everyone that supports CRI. No name given, Class of 2018.

I knows there are people who do not believe it is possible to rehabilitate prisoners, but I do because of the power of forgiveness and the grace of God. Without rehabilitation the recidivism rate of paroled prisoners is about 70% (compared to Collette, knock on wood, 0% recidivism rate). I'm not so naive that I believe every prisoner can be rehabilitated but I think Collette has somehow, with God's help, found at least one way to successfully rehabilitate some prisoners. I'm glad to be a support to her program, even though it's with ironing, pricing items, dusting shelves, etc.

By the way my conversations with Collette has helped me tremendously as I am trying to support a grandson in recovery from drug addiction. I personally think God led me to volunteer at Second Chance so Collette could help me gain insight into understanding addiction. Addicts often use drugs because they are hurting. Hurting people really do hurt people; I know my grandson did when he was in active addiction. Just like the prisoners at San Quentin, an addict needs to recognize and learn skills to deal with those hurts and reach out to a Higher Power (that's God to us Christians) and find strength and forgiveness. That's what the 12 step program in AA and NA is all about.

Second Chance Boutique is located at 4305 Clayton Road, in the shopping center on Treat with Buttercup and Safeway. If you are in the area stop by, if it's open you might even find me there as I volunteer (they are closed Mondays and mornings). If you have new or slightly used clothing to donate, you might consider Second Chance.

500 Years of Living in Faith

Martin Luther said about the Church, “Anyone who is to find Christ must first find the church. How could anyone know where Christ is and what faith is in him unless he knew where his believers are?”

As we kick off the Stewardship Drive let us be proud to belong to such a beautiful church that also gives so much back to the community. We have had some firsts this year with our participation in the Concord 4th of July parade and the Reformation Festival. Let us not only continue to offer our services to the community but also find new ways to invite new members to our wonderful church where his believers are.
